Evil in the shadows

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertssexnews.co.uk

COMMUNITY leaders were this week united in their condemnation of an attempt to burn down the Harlow Islamic Centre.

The arson attack on the building in Paringdon Road took place between 10.30pm on Sunday and 4am the following morning.

Police, who are treating the attack as a race hate crime, have been studying CCTV images which show three people at the scene.

They have ruled out a link between the incident and the Barn Mead fire which claimed the lives of six members of the Shakoor family last October.

Harlow MP Robert Halfon branded those responsible as "the scum of the earth" while police described it as "a reckless, mindless and dangerous act".

People arriving for early morning prayers on Monday found insulation foam had been sprayed under all of the shutters which cover the doors and windows.

Chief Inspector Ed Wells, of Essex Police, said: "It appears they [the culprits] have set fire to foam at one of the centre's doors which has damaged the wall, but thankfully not taken hold of the building."

Ajaib Hussain, chairman of the centre, told the Star he received the news of the attack in a telephone call.

"I came straight down," he said. "I was shocked and angry that someone would do this to Harlow Islamic Centre where we have been building relationships with the community."

"Who would do this on a bank holiday to a place of worship and prayer and good things?"

He added: "There is absolutely no tension between us and the community. We have been building

THESE grainy black and white CCTV images show the three suspects thought to be responsible for the arson attack.

The three men are seen to approach the building at 1.24am on Monday. One is seen to be holding a drill while another can be seen with what police believe to be a canister of insulation foam.

Superintendent Trevor Roe said: "It is clear from the CCTV footage this was a premeditated, deliberate attempt to cause serious damage to the Islamic centre.

"The three men come equipped to carry out the damage and also take everything they brought with them away again."

"We urge anyone who is able to identify the men to contact us as soon as possible. We are determined to find those people responsible."

relationships and bridges within the community and I cannot see any reasons why anybody would go the extent to try to do this."

Mr Halfon said that during his time as an MP he had never seen anything as bad in terms of racism.

"It has been my pleasure to be involved with the Islamic centre quite a bit in recent months," he said. "I spent an evening with the Muslim scouts which was really fun and I was there for the breaking of the fast for Ramadan."

"There are some people who live in the undergrowth and behave like vermin and they come out at night and do these kinds of terrible things. I have no other words to describe them but as scum of the earth."

"I believe that they won't succeed because Harlow Islamic Centre is a very special place. It is a tolerant and beautiful place at the heart of our community and I am very proud that it is here and I know they will go strength to strength, despite having to endure this latest outrage."

"The second reason why these scum won't succeed is because of the people of Harlow. This is a tolerant and diverse community and people live happily side by side. We have a very strong community."

"I believe that the community will come together and I urge residents with any information to get in touch with the police. I hope those responsible are hunted down and face the full consequences of the law. I will be raising this shocking attack in Parliament next week."

Community leaders condemn arson attack on centre

Labour parliamentary candidate Suzy Stride said: "Having spent time at the Islamic centre getting to know the community there I know they are some of the most peaceful, hospitable and caring people I have met."

"This act is not at all reflective of the strong community that Harlow has and it is good to see Harlow stands united against it and continues to celebrate the rich diversity we have."

And Cllr Rod Truan, deputy leader of Harlow Council, said: "This is an extremely concerning incident. "We are in contact with the police and Harlow's Muslim Association to offer whatever help we can. I know Harlow and all its faiths will stand together to deplore an act of this nature."

MEDIA BRIEFING: Chief Inspector Ed Wells, centre chairman Ajaib Hussain and Harlow MP Robert Halfon answer questions at Monday's press conference

Martin Harris, chair of Christian faith group Heart4Harlow, said: "This is not only an attack on dear friends and neighbours; this is also an attack on us all for it is an attack on worship."

"Places of worship are places set aside to help us value the important things in life. It has been a joy for many of us in recent months to get to enjoy the warm hospitality of the Islamic centre. Places of worship help build local community."

People have also been using social media to express their outrage. Donna Redding tweeted: "I hope who did this is caught, and punished. Our community working together will stand up as one and fight for peace" while Sarah Snow said in a Facebook post: "If this is so-called 'British pride' then I do not want to be a part of it."

Speaking at a press conference on Monday, Chief Inspector Wells said police forensic crime scene investigators had been work with the Essex County Fire and Rescue Service at the scene.

"They have conducted a detailed investigation while detectives pursue other lines of enquiry."

He added: "We have an excellent relationship with the leaders here. I want to thank Mr Hussain and the rest of his team who remain very dignified and calm despite this very concerning attack."

"This affects not just those who are part of the prayer centre but the vast majority of residents who are equally appalled at this crime."

Anyone with information about the attack should contact detectives at Harlow police station on 101 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Edward celebrates his 90th... with a workout

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

MOST 90-year-olds would enjoy their birthdays by putting their feet up and taking it easy.

But for one Harlow resident, the celebrations started with a twice-weekly visit to the gym.

Edward Bunkall, of East Park, celebrated his 90th on Friday. And when he arrived at the Mark Hall Sports Centre for his regular workout, he was met by staff who presented him with a birthday cake.

"My birthday was excellent and it was a lovely surprise to get the cake at the sports centre," he said.

"I go the gym every Tuesday and Thursday for an hour but sometimes it's a little longer depending on how long I'm kept chatting!"

"I do everything while I'm there but I've found things are harder as you get older. I've always been an active person, though, and I've been exercising since I was seven-years-old."

Edward, who served in the Royal Air Force, added: "I spent my birthday with my niece and her family.

HEALTHY LIVING: Edward Bunkall works out in the gym on his birthday

My other niece was away camping so we'll be doing something together this week.

"We're going to see the Buddy Holly show at The Playhouse then go for a meal."

Edward puts his love of exercise and nature down to an article he read during his youth which gave instructions on how to make a tent.

"At the end of the children's newspaper that my sister and I used to read was a 'how to' guide and one day there was one on how to make a tent.

"Me being me, I asked my mum for a sheet and the butcher for two sticks and I made the tent. My dad was so impressed he brought it and we started going camping. Then I got my nieces and nephews camping and they still go now."

Irene Glazebrook, who works at the sports centre where Edward has been a member for the past five years, said: "Everyone knows him as Ted and he is a very popular member."

"He has been coming to the sports centre twice a week for the past five years without fail, even in the snow."

"We can't believe it when it's icy and snowy and there's Ted ready to go. He puts a lot of people to shame with his energy!"

"It was lovely to be able to wish him a happy birthday."

Son made a threat to firebomb home of dad's lover

A MAN who threatened to stab his father's lover and firebomb her home has been served with a six-month restraining order.

Adam Brand, 22, of Quarry Spring, Harlow, pleaded guilty to one offence of harassment without violence.

Harlow magistrates were told on Thursday that Brand was angry after his father walked out on his mother after more than 20 years of marriage and moved in with another woman.

The defendant twice went to her home in Pennymead to talk to his father. However, he was said to have ended up shouting abuse and kicking the door.

Prosecutor Angela Hughes said that on another occasion he saw her in the street and was again abusive.

"He said he was going to stab her and petrol bomb her house and smash her windows," said Miss Hughes. "This time it was reported to police."

Farah Ahmed, representing Brand, said in mitigation his client now regretted his behaviour.

"He was extremely upset," said Miss Ahmed. "He was angry that his father had left his mother. He was upset as any normal 22-year-old would be when his father leaves home having had an affair."

She said Brand did not mean anything by the words he used. "They were said out of anger," she added.

As well as the restraining order preventing him from making contact with his father's partner, Brand was fined £120 and ordered to pay £105 costs.

Track stars race for pole position

RACE CONTROL: Above, Daniel Budd (17). Right, Jake (7) and Leah (4) Budd

FANS of the electric car racing game Scalextric got the chance to put their skills to the test on a race track set up in Harlow town centre.

The Harvey Centre teamed up with Marquee Models to provide a four-day long Scalextric World Championships.

Children and adults were encouraged to clock their time around a lap of the circuit, with the overall best added to the championships leaderboard.

The overall winner was 13-year-old Ryan Mattock, who set a time of 29.102 seconds. He was presented with a Scalextric Buggati set.

The event formed part of the Harvey Centre's summer programme of holiday activities which included arts and crafts, gardening and puppet workshops.

Fun for all at family day

A FAMILY fun day at the Water Gardens in Harlow town centre proved a huge success.

Several activities were held throughout the day including face-painting, bouncy castles, Punch & Judy shows and stilt walkers. Entertainment included a performance by local dance group Hip Hop Pop and the appearance of some of Pets Corner's most popular animals.

"We were absolutely delighted with the day," said a Water Gardens spokesman. "The event created a fantastic atmosphere in the centre and we hope everyone enjoyed the excellent entertainment and retailer contributions on the day."

"We really feel it helps bring the community together for a day of fun and shopping and it seemed to be a great success."

It's such a purr-fect day!

A RESCUE centre caring for lost and abandoned cats and kittens took advantage of the bank holiday weekend to hold an open day.

Chestnut Cat Sanctuary, in High Road, Epping, succeeded in finding new homes for a number of animals during the event on Monday.

Cakes and refreshment stalls, a bric-a-brac table and a raffle raised £1,000 which will go towards the daily care and maintenance of the cats.

AN information hub for cancer patients has opened at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital.

The addition to the Williams Day Unit is a joint initiative between South Essex Partnership University NHS Trust, the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust and Macmillan Cancer Support. Jules Martin, the hospital's chief operating officer, said: "Having the right information coupled with the right care for our cancer patients is so important and we are pleased we can host this new facility at our hospital."

Patients will be able to access a wide range of information and advice from help with the costs involved in receiving treatment to respite care.

The trained volunteers working under the Macmillan information manager will also provide information on community services, voluntary organisations and support groups who can provide further help.

Macmillan development manager Jo van Tijn, said: "Over 10,000 in West Essex and beyond are living with cancer and this number is predicted to double by 2030."

"Those affected by cancer tell us that, at diagnosis, their whole life is in turmoil. Even after treatment people can still require considerable support, sometimes years afterwards. It is vital that people can easily access support and information."

"This service works across West Essex, and it is fantastic that it now has a hub within the hospital.

"Macmillan believes no one should face cancer alone and with services like this, which we have developed in partnership with SEPT and Princess Alexandra Hospital, we are to be there for more people affected by cancer."

Kirstie flattered by offer of part in BBC TV drama

A YOUNG actress from Harlow will be appearing on television screens in millions of front rooms across the country this week-end when she features in the BBC's prime-time hospital drama Casualty.

Kirstie Brough, of Moorfields, has been kept busy since making her debut TV appearance in EastEnders as homeless girl Betty last year.

Since then the 21-year-old has filmed scenes for an American sitcom and only last week appeared in E4 comedy show PhoneShop.

But her role in Casualty is her biggest to date. In Saturday's programme she plays Anna Midsummer, a teenage cancer patient.

"It's been a whirlwind, really crazy actually," she told the Star. "I got a lot of interest after EastEnders and since then I've been able to go to Romania for an American sitcom. I also did an advert for DFS which was different."

"I got a small part on Casualty and was then able to work on PhoneShop. Then I got a call from the director of Casualty asking me to do another role again."

"It's been crazy, I've been flattered by all the feedback and all the support from family and friends and even people I went to school with which has been really nice."

Kirstie got the call from one of the show's directors who was impressed by her last appearance on the programme back in April.

"He called me to offer me the part but because I couldn't drive I didn't get it," she said.

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"But then the actress who did get it dropped out and I was called again. He said he didn't mind the fact that I can't drive and we could work around it. He just wanted me to be on the show; I was really flattered."

"I have never had a role like this. It deals with some hard, real-life issues but it was great. I did lots of different stunts and there was a lot of blood; it was great to see the sort of special effects used."

Kirstie, who also works in the The Playhouse box office and in the Hobbycraft store at the Queensgate Centre, added:

"It's been amazing so far and I hope I can one day act full-time."

>>>The episode of Casualty starring Kirstie is screened on BBC1 on Saturday at 8.40pm.

My day spent with

AS a journalist, I've resisted writing in the first person for 25 years. I'm a reporter – who really cares what I think?

But a day with a crew from the East of England Ambulance Service has forced me to step outside my comfort zone.

Recent problems are well documented. Recently it was revealed an inquiry has started into why an ambulance was delayed after being called as a teenage girl suffered a fatal asthma attack.

An ambulance was called at 7.44pm but did not arrive until 8.03pm – 19 minutes instead of the eight-minute deadline.

In June, criticism of the top brass in parliament precipitated the resignation of five non-executive directors. Harlow MP Robert Halfon was scathing about the management while paying tribute to the men and women on the front line.

Recalling the First World War British Infantry and the incompetent generals who commanded them, Mr Halfon said the crews were "lions being led by donkeys".

My day began as I expected. While it was something of a culture shock to be ready for action at 7am, I was rather smug when we languished at the station in Bishop's Stortford for an hour or so before the first call. James Pearson and Rob Peters were incredulous. While I enjoyed an extra cup of tea, they checked they were still connected to the system and not somehow missing the usual immediate maelstrom of emergency calls.

After they checked and re-stocked the ambulance ready for action, I took the opportunity to learn a little more about my companions for the day. James (22) has been an emergency care assistant for a year and aims to become a fully-fledged paramedic like 32-year-old Rob.

He has been in the service for more than seven years after working in sales. Wife Emma is also an EEAST paramedic and the couple, who have a one-year-old son called Henry, are awaiting the imminent arrival of their second child.

Station supervisor Mark Davy (54) who has been with the ambulance service for 27 years and at Stortford for the past 15, completed the team on duty in the town manning the fast-response car.

After a few minutes, lounging around answering questions became too much for Rob and James and they used the unexpected downtime to clean the ambulance which would be our 'office' for the next 13 hours.

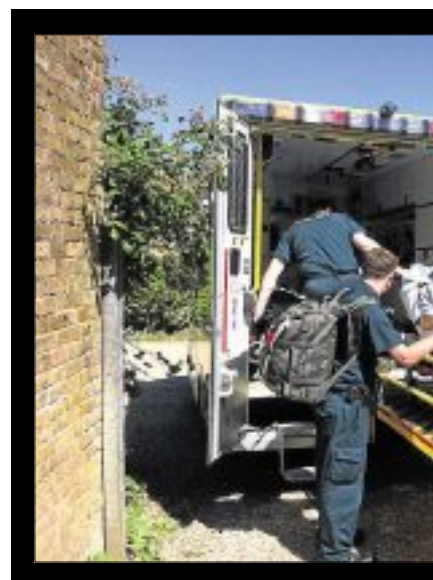

The heavyweight vehicle can cover up to 500 miles in just one night-shift and 400,000 miles on the clock is not unusual.

They also showed me the reams of paperwork they must complete for each job, and explained about the HGV qualifications and advanced driving tuitions they need just to drive the Mercedes mammoth.

And then we had our first job – a call to a 91-year-old who had fallen at home in Hertford Heath. All we are told is that the woman "cannot walk any further". She is breathing and conscious, but not alert.

What we found on arrival turned out to be all too typical of the pressures placed on the emergency service as it copes with an ageing population. Sylvia has had dementia for the past five years. She no longer knows her devoted husband Victor, 92, but points lovingly at a picture of her own mother on the wall.

The couple married in 1944, just before D-Day and have been together for 69 years and Victor's determination to care for his wife is a testament to enduring love.

A veteran of RAF Fighter Command during the war, when he worked on the engines of Spitfires and Hurricanes, Victor is made of stern stuff, but at almost 93, he is too frail to lift Sylvia when she falls and so the pair had to wait patiently for help from EEAST after Sylvia collapsed at the top of the stairs.

Rob and James immediately reassure him that he has done the right thing in summoning help and apologise for the wait.

Even though Sylvia barely seems aware of their presence, they talk to her gently, explaining every step of their examination.

Once reassured that she is well and mobile once more, they note her leg is swollen and after establishing this is not a new development, Rob calls the couple's GP and arranges an appointment for the same day while James ensures Victor is in contact with advisors from Herts County Council's Falls Register.

No sooner are we back in the bus, than the next shout sends us racing back to Bishop's Stortford to the Conewood Manor residential home on Dunmow Road. The crew are told an 88-year-old man has difficulty breathing.

When we arrive, it is clear the condition of the pensioner called Dennis is deteriorating and after talking to staff and checking his temperature, heart-rate and other vital signs, Rob decides that Dennis needs to go to Princess Alexandra Hospital.

Once again, although their patient is barely responsive, Rob and James talk to him with respect and good humour, carefully explaining what is happening as they administer oxygen.

While James takes the wheel, I ride in the back of the ambulance with Rob and watch as he works to make Dennis more comfortable, setting up a drip to rehydrate the old man amid concerns a chest infection could be spreading.

On arriving at PAH the crew fully briefs the casualty team before leaving Dennis in their care.

Then we are back on the road again, heading to Sawbridgeworth and another elderly fall

Bank holiday callouts keep crews busy

AMBULANCE staff were kept busy over the bank holiday weekend as the service received more than 7,500 emergency calls.

The East of England Ambulance Service reported receiving a total of 7,851 calls during the three-day period from Saturday to Monday - an increase of more than four per cent compared to last year's August Bank Holiday weekend.

Some 3,794 people were taken to hospitals across the region.

Calls ranged from overdoses, suspected strokes and burns-related incidents to cardiac arrests and serious traffic accidents.

Marcus Bailey, interim consultant paramedic for EEAST, said: "The damp weather ensured we didn't receive any calls relating to heat exposure, but we did attend 155 road traffic collisions including a double fatality.

"But the biggest reason for people calling us was for falls: with almost 2,000 calls being made."

EEAST receive more than 2,000 emergency 999 calls every day.

exceptional people in an extraordinary job

The East of England Ambulance Service has come under fire recently after a fatal delay in arriving for an emergency callout. SINEAD HOLLAND joined a crew to discover what a typical shift holds for the men and women described in Parliament by Harlow MP Robert Halfon as "lions being led by donkeys".

victim. This time the crew use a Mangar Elk – a nifty inflatable chair – to bring 76-year-old Peter back to his feet.

Like Victor, wife June was simply not strong enough to help her spouse, but married for 54 years, it is clear this couple are also devoted and determined to care for each other.

The Stortford ambulance's next shout is attending a 60-year-old who has fallen in the street in Welwyn Garden City, but no sooner are we on our way than the job changes to treating a two-year-old in the same town who has hit his head.

Then there is a third change and we are diverted to the Hitchin area and 87-year-old in a care home who has fallen. The call is already an hour old.

While we're speeding to the north of the county, a crew from Hertford has to be sent to Stortford to help out as I'm starting to see how delays stack up as ambulances are forced to criss-cross the patch playing a desperate game of catch.

At the care home in Graveley we find a 76-year-old Malcolm prone on the floor. As gently examines him, he yelps and though he appears lucid, his conversation is off at a tangent to wartime memories. The crew become increasingly concerned that Malcolm may have broken his hip.

It is only when the care home manager, who knows Malcolm well, arrives that the truth emerges. An empty bottle of Madeira in the room provides a clue and she is able to establish that Malcolm is not seriously injured, confiding that the old man is upset because his daughter, who is a frequent visitor, has just gone on holiday.

As we jump back into the ambulance, the next call is to help a female psychiatric patient at a doctor's surgery in Hoddesdon, where police are in attendance, but again we are diverted this time to Standon, where it is feared a 75-year-old woman has had a stroke. Paramedic Mark is already at the scene and has established that Joan's frightening symptoms are the result of the very warm weather and her vertigo.

The hours have flown by and it is almost 6pm as we race towards Wormley near Broxbourne to take 53-year-old brain tumour victim Kim to Chase Farm Hospital in Enfield.

The fear is that she is having an adrenal crisis, which mimics the effects of a stroke.

As James makes his way through the rush-hour traffic – his mantra is "drive to arrive" – Rob treats Kim with a nebuliser to ease her breathing.

I leave her feeling better and waiting for her family to arrive as the 12-hour shift finally ends.

Rob and James are almost apologetic that the day has not been more dramatic, but I am grateful. For my part, I think Rob and James and their EEA colleagues make a huge difference each and every day.

I saw with my own eyes that EEA is manned by exceptional people – who care and afford everyone dignity and respect and who try to find a gentle and appropriate humour in every situation – so that those who are frail and fearful feel they have at least two friends.

Sales director Brett Savidge (42), of Elwood, Church Langley, completed the Ironman 2013 challenge in Frankfurt, raising more than £1,400 in the process.

The triathlon involves a 2.4-mile swim followed by a 112-mile bike ride and a marathon to the finish line - all within a time limit of 15 hours.

In temperatures of 33C, the former Burnt Mill pupil completed the swim in a time of one hour and 11 minutes and the cycle ride in five hours and 40 minutes before starting the run.

"In each village or town I rode through there was a carnival atmosphere with the locals having street parties, playing music and really shouting to give support," he said. "All the children were at the side of the roads with their hands out wanting a high five."

"As I came round the corner and in to the final part of the marathon the crowd roared, it was incredible. I looked to the left and saw my children, my wife and my parents who were crying and screaming. I blew them a kiss and then ran straight for the finishing line."

He completed the challenge in 12 hours and 33 minutes.

Anyone wanting to donate to Brett's fundraising total can still do so by visiting www.justgiving.com/Brett-Savidge.

Filling a need for volunteers

A PROJECT which helps promote and support volunteers is urging more people to give some of their time to worthwhile causes in Harlow.

The Volunteer Centre at Wych Elm wants more people to get involved with local community groups.

Organiser Della Nash said: "Many local groups are currently seeking volunteers to help in various ways."

"Befrienders and drivers are needed by a group supporting elderly people in the town. A minute-taker and confident kitchen helpers are also needed, as is a volunteer to do some light cleaning for a couple of hours a week."

To find out about volunteering opportunities, or to get involved, visit www.volunteercentre.harlow.org.uk or call Della on (01279) 308310.

Soak up the fun at Pets Corner

PETS Corner in Harlow Town Park will be holding a fun day this weekend during which local councillors will sit in the stocks to raise money for the popular attraction.

The free event has been organised by the Friends of Pets Corner.

Council chair Linda Palling and colleagues Emma Toal and Jon Clempner have agreed to spend some time in the stocks and be pelted with wet sponges.

There will also be a dog show, a barbecue, refreshments, stalls and activities, while Harlow Falconry will be displaying birds of prey.

The fun day will be held at Pets Corner on Sunday (September 1) from 11am-5pm.

Charity night will be in high spirits

A FUNDRAISER with a difference has been organised to raise cash for new charity No Child Without.

An evening, of clairvoyance hosted by local group Inner Peace Healing Sanctuary, will be held at Tye Green Community Centre next Saturday (September 7).

The event, which will feature medium Mike Matthews, is being held in aid of the charity which was launched back in June to ensure young people are not missing out on any opportunities such as school trips, clothing and equipment, due to financial hardships.

Organiser Janet Clark said: "We wanted to do this to raise money for a new charity that is doing good things for Harlow children."

"We'll have refreshments and a raffle and it should be a really good night. Hopefully we can raise as much money as possible for No Child Without."

The evening is on from 8pm-9.30pm and entry costs £5.

Lottery winner

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, August 23 is the holder of ticket number 617520. The winner lives in Harlow.

Family fun day is cancer survivor's hospital thank-you

BIANCA CASTRO

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A CANCER survivor is organising a family fun day to raise funds for the hospital that helped save her life.

Nikki Keyte, (37) of Rushton Grove, Harlow, was under the care of medics at The National Hospital for Neurology and Neurosurgery in London for almost 10 years after being diagnosed with a brain tumour.

Nikki, who is now in recovery, was inspired to host the fundraiser as a way of showing her gratitude.

"The fun day will have a lot going on and it's going to be a really big family event," she said. "The organisation of it has gone really well; I have had a lot of help from family and friends for which I'm really grateful. It's given me something to focus on."

"We originally had the fun day at The Maypole [the sports and social club that has now closed] but thankfully Paringdon Sports & Social Club stepped in as a new venue and printing company Hot

GAME FOR A LAUGH: Nikki Keyte, who is organising a family fun day fundraiser

Mash offered to reprint our posters and everything completely free of charge."

The fun day will feature a range of stalls and fair games as well as bouncy castles, a barbecue, a Smiley's Soft Play under five's area, performances from a local hip-hop group and a raffle with prizes including family tickets to Legoland and a golfing day for four at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych.

The star attraction will be Johnny Cochrane and Inel

Tomlinson, who have their own CBBC television show.

"There will be lots of different things going on," said Nikki. "It's set to be a great day and I'm hoping to raise as much money as possible for the hospital which has done so much for me," she said. "I have been in that hospital for nine years and I just want to say thank you."

The family fun day takes place at Paringdon Sports & Social Club on Sunday (September 1) from 1-5pm.

GCSE pupils reap the rewards of hard work

PUPILS in Harlow have been celebrating another bumper set of GCSE results, despite tougher exams, higher grade boundaries and stricter marking. Some schools reported their best-ever GCSE grades yet, with Burnt Mill claiming top spot for the town's best GCSE results. BIANCA CASTRO reports on how Harlow schools performed.

BURNT MILL ACADEMY

Headteacher Helena Mills said she was "over the moon" after the First Avenue school improved its results for the third year running.

Some 76 per cent of students gained five A*-C grades including English and maths - a four per cent increase on last year - and 97 per cent achieved five or more A*-C grades.

"I know how hard our students have work this year, coming in on Saturdays and during their holidays to constantly improve their chances of top results," said Ms Mills, who joined the school when it had a pass rate of just 27 per cent.

"At Burnt Mill we are so lucky to have such a committed staff and such fabulous students. I am, once again, over-the-moon with the results."

MARK HALL SCHOOL

With changes ahead for the First Avenue school as it prepares to take on academy status, principal in waiting Corrine Franceschi expressed her delight at the student's GCSE results.

Although the school was unable to supply percentages of pupils who gained five A*-C grades including English and maths and those who gained five or more A*-C grades by the time the Star went to press, Ms Franceschi said: "There have been some strong and impressive individual results and, of course, I am very pleased for these students," said Ms Franceschi.

"Every community needs a good to outstanding local school and I know from experience that schools can be turned around. I am looking forward to beginning the journey of transforming Mark Hall."

PASSMORES ACADEMY

Headteacher Vic Goddard said the achievements of students - 52 per cent gained five A*-C grades including English and maths and 75 per cent received five A*-C grades - were the summit of a "magnificent educational journey at Passmores".

The academy's 'gifted and talented' group also achieved more than 300 A and A* grades with Adam Baker, Harry Tennyson and Jack Almond leading the pack with 11 A*s and A's each.

"We ensure that students get offered a wide range of subjects to meet their ambitions but keep a focus on the crucial subjects of English and maths, so it is great that our young people can really follow their dreams rather than what we think is important to them," said Mr Goddard.

STEWARDS ACADEMY

ST MARK'S WEST ESSEX

The Tripton Road school was celebrating after 74 per cent of pupils achieved five A*-C grades.

Students who did particularly well included Vatsal Patel, who gained 11 A* and A grades, Collette Budd and Harrison Seymour who both gained 10 A*/A grades and Samuel Hufton, Samuel Wilson and Teeya Shah who each achieved nine A* and A grades.

Headteacher Elaine Heaphy said: "I am delighted that the hard work of our pupils and their teachers has been rewarded with such a good set of GCSE results."

"At St Mark's we continually strive to challenge all of our pupils. We promote an academic Key Stage 4 curriculum which enables our pupils to go onto A-level and post-16 studies."

"I look forward to welcoming this year group of pupils back, along with many new pupils, into our sixth form."

STEWARDS ACADEMY

THE First Avenue school achieved its best ever results with 58 per cent of students achieving five A*-C grades including English and maths.

The highest achievers - Louise Martin, Anastasia Smirnova, Kimberley Ndungu, Aiden Warwick, Hazel Owen, Victoria Whay, Paul Burton, Aphra Boittier, Patrick McGovern, Lewis Townsend, Jasmine Hind, Ellie Thomson and Sarah Warby - gained 144 A* grades between them.

Headteacher Rhonda Murthar said: "We are all delighted with the results which reflect exactly what Ofsted saw when they came in - a team effort on the part of the pupils, staff and the families of our pupils in working together to make sure that our pupils achieve the very best they are capable of."

Bench memorial to popular governor

HARLOWBURY PRIMARY

Students, staff and parents have celebrated the life of the school's chair of governors, Joan Morgan, who died last month.

A ceremony was held to unveil a memorial bench which has been placed in the school grounds. Joan's granddaughter Sophie Boulton, who is in Year 6 at the school, cut a ribbon and Harlow MP Robert Halfon said a few words.

Parent Eugenie Harvey, said: "Joan was an incredibly important part of Harlowbury School and contributed hugely to its success and vitality.

"She gave a vast amount of time, made hundreds - possibly thousands - of cakes which were sold to fund new school equipment, supported the staff through a very successful OFSTED inspection recently and, most importantly, gave the children an example of service. For this alone we are all greatly indebted to her.

"I'm delighted that through contributions made by parents and friends of the school, we have been able to buy a friendship bench for the school playground in her memory."

The school has also purchased a trophy in her memory which will be awarded every year to the pupil who makes the greatest contribution to school life.

Celebrating students' degree success

HARLOW COLLEGE

Recent graduates returned to the campus for a 'celebration of success' event.

The day gave students who had finished their degree courses at the college - a regional partner of the Anglia Ruskin University - the chance to receive a certificate in front of an audience of family and friends.

The ceremony was attended by staff from the university centre who joined the new graduates for an afternoon tea to mark the end of their degree courses.

Head of academy Paula Dady said: "This was very much a UCH family event, designed as a way of both congratulating the students on the completion of their studies and of waving them off to their futures, with a reminder that we want them all to stay in touch.

"We also took this as an opportunity to launch our UCH Alumni Association, through which we hope to organise a number of events each year for our past students."

Pupils make a splash at Olympics centre

PASSMORES ACADEMY

Students took to the water as they represented the town at the third annual schools festival held at Lee Valley White Water Centre in Waltham Cross.

The festival - the first since the London 2012 Olympic and Paralympic Games - saw hundreds of students from across London, Essex and Hertfordshire tackling the rapids.

London 2012 Canoe Slalom gold medalists Etienne Stott and Tim Baillie also returned to the scene of their triumph to witness the completion of the first phase of post-Olympics development work at the centre.

Mr Baillie said: "The memories of the London 2012 Games will never leave us and it's great to see so many young people coming to Lee Valley White Water Centre and taking to the same water where we achieved our win.

"We hope that we can inspire more young people to take up paddle sport and having these facilities can help to unearth the sport's future champions."

River dolphin is having whale of a time

HERE in the UK we usually see dolphins in wildlife parks, on TV documentaries or, if we're very lucky, swimming in the sea of the coastline.

But now one of these lovable sea creatures was photographed frolicking in a RIVER in the town of Saltney in north Wales.

It was first seen by the public in the nearby town of Connah's Quay, but it then swam upstream.

A nature charity is keeping tabs on the dolphin after it became stranded as it tried to make its way back towards the sea and had to be rolled back into the water.

Stephen Marsh from the charity British Divers Marine Life Rescue said: "Reports from the public said it was swimming quite a lot and clicking quite a lot, so it's probably feeding. "Unless it gets into difficulty we don't really need to intervene. "We will monitor it and hope it goes back out to sea." It is rare for dolphins to be seen in the river although a pair of porpoises were reported nearby eight years ago.

Petition calls for halt to 'bedroom tax' court cases

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A PETITION signed by more than 900 people is calling on Harlow Council to suspend court action against tenants who fall behind on council tax payments as a result of the so-called bedroom tax.

The petition has been collected by Harlow Trades Union Council and Harlow Benefits Justice.

A TUC spokesman said this week: "We have spoken to many people who are cutting back on fuel bills and food to pay the bedroom tax, with many resorting to foodbanks to prevent building up arrears and the threat of eviction."

"Some have already received threatening letters from bailiffs and several, in a distraught state, revealed they were contemplating suicide."

He claimed many tenants had requested a smaller property from the council back in March or April but without success.

"The real beneficiaries of the bedroom tax will ultimately be private landlords renting one-bed properties that are substantially more expensive than two-bed social-rented housing, thus costing the taxpayer far more," he said.

PROTEST: Harlow TUC members set off from Latton Bush on the first day of the campaign

"The remedy lies in the TUC's campaign for The People's Charter which calls for, amongst its six key objectives, millions of new council homes to be built. This will then satisfy the near two million families on council waiting lists, get construction workers off the dole, revitalise the economy and substantially reduce the housing benefit bill."

TUC secretary David Forman added: "In all my years of Labour movement activity I have never before seen such a terrible policy that drives poor workers into destitution, anxiety and despair.

"We condemn the Government's bedroom tax policy which penalises and stigmatises low-income workers, the disabled, the unemployed and single parents for a housing shortage not of their making and which will not do anything to solve the housing crisis."

A council spokesman confirmed it had received the petition.

"It is currently going through the verification process and once this is completed the council will let Harlow TUC and Harlow Benefits Justice know at which meeting the petition will be considered," he added.

RIGHTS&ADVICE Information from Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice

Another way to help people struggling to cope with debt

LAST month we explained how Administration Orders could be helpful for people struggling to pay debts of up to £5,000. This month we explain how Debt Relief Orders can help people with up to £15,000 of debt.

There are a number of conditions, the first being that unlike AOs there is a £90 fee payable to the Insolvency Service. Payment can be made by instalment provided the whole fee is paid within six months.

The application will not be processed until the fee is paid. Some organisations offer financial assistance with DRO fees.

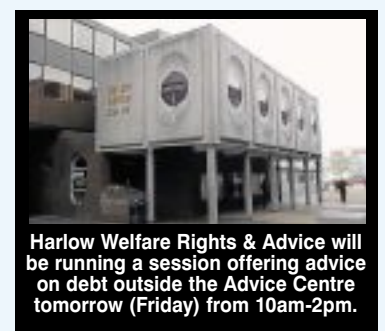

The application must be completed by an intermediary who is an experienced money advisor approved by the Insolvency Service.

If your application is successful, none of the non-priority creditors you have listed can press you for payment for a year, after which the debt is written off. The treatment of priority debts can be complicated and your adviser will explain how this affects you.

You must keep to the conditions; if you don't the DRO can be cancelled and you will be back where you started. The DRO fee will not be refunded.

A further condition is that you must not have a disposable monthly income of more than £50 per month. This is the amount you have left after you have allowed for normal household bills including transport, food, cleaning materials, clothing, insurance, electric/gas, water rates, rent and council tax.

If your income increases or your expenses

Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice will be running a session offering advice on debt outside the Advice Centre tomorrow (Friday) from 10am-2pm.

decrease leaving you with over £50 per month at any time during that year, you must report this and the DRO will be cancelled.

It does not matter whether you are on benefits; it is the actual income that is considered, not where it comes from.

You also cannot have any assets worth more than £300, so that rules out anyone owning or buying their own home. You also cannot normally own a car worth more than £1,000.

You must also have resided or carried out a business in England or Wales in the past three years and not be involved in any formal insolvency procedure when you apply.

This article covers most but not all of the conditions that apply to DROs.

Last chance to enter our business awards

THIS is your last chance to enter the inaugural 2013 Harlow Star Business Excellence Awards.

Since we launched the search for the companies which have stood out over the past year in Harlow's business community we have been inundated with nominations.

The deadline for nominations is 11pm on Saturday (August 31).

This is the first year of the awards, which are being run in association with the Harlow and District Chamber of Commerce.

The aim is to celebrate the great achievements of businesses - and there are many candidates in and around the town who continue to defy the economic downturn.

There are eight categories to choose from, ranging from 'Business Innovation' and 'Business Growth' to 'Business of the Year' and 'Business Person of the Year'.

Star editor Ken Morley said: "Harlow is fortunate to have many successful businesses and their contribution to our thriving community cannot be under-estimated.

"These awards are a chance to celebrate their successes and reward excellence."

Submitting a nomination could not be easier - and you can even nominate yourself. All you have to do is log on to www.harlowstar.co.uk/Business/Business-awards and complete the nomination form. A panel of judges will draw up a shortlist of potential award winners who will be invited to make a short presentation in support of their nomination.

The winners will be announced at a gala presentation evening to be held at the Manor of Groves Hotel in High Wych on Thursday, November 7, for which tickets are available to purchase for £45 each.

Send an email to karen.ball@hertsessexnews.co.uk for more details.

The categories

Business Growth sponsored by CapitalSpace

This category provides the opportunity for businesses which developed significantly to receive recognition for their achievements. The winner will have demonstrated how it has grown its customer base, staff, profit, market share and the methods it went through to achieve these developments.

Apprentice of the Year sponsored by Harlow College

In this category the judges will be looking to hear about local apprentices who are showing exceptional ability and contributing to the success of their employer.

Small Business of the Year sponsored by Barclays

Which company employing no more than 40 staff has impressed you most in terms of innovation, product, quality service, imagination, marketing and managerial skills?

Best New Business sponsored by NWES

An award for businesses which have achieved the most in the past two years and under. This award category celebrates the contribution new businesses make to Harlow and the surrounding district. Who has translated a great idea into a successful business venture?

Business Person of the Year

sponsored by Harlow Business Exhibitions & Bailey Book-keeping
Which business person in the region has impressed you most as an individual over the past year at any level?

Business of the Year sponsored by Pitney Bowes

Which locally based company/organisation led the way during 2013 in terms of growth, diversification or consolidation and deserves the accolade of the town's Business of the Year?

Business Innovation (sponsorship available)

Which company's initiative in terms of innovation, research and development has most impressed you during the past 12 months?

Green Award (sponsorship available)

In this category the judges will be looking for businesses which have environment, sustainability and corporate social responsibility at the very core of the way they operate.

Programme sponsors: Harlow Town Football Club

Search starts for Pride of Essex nominees

ORGANISERS of the Essex Pride Awards have started their search for inspirational adults and children who could emulate the success of a Harlow youngster who won an award last year.

Ellie Darby-Prangnell (12), pictured above, was named winner of the Child of Courage category.

Ellie, of Halling Hill, Harlow, has spinal muscular atrophy type 2, brittle bones and a hole in her heart but that did not stop her becoming a member of her school choir and drama club.

She was given the award in recognition of her achievement in overcoming adversity to reach her goals.

Susie Cornell, champion for the disabled, said: "Although the awards were renamed last year, they have been going since 1994 and throughout the years have shown just how special and courageous people in Essex have been and still are. We know that will be reflected by this year's award nominees."

The awards have four categories: Ultimate Pride of Essex, Child of Courage, Unsung Hero and Community Champion. Nominees and their families will be invited as VIP guests to a presentation evening in December when the winners will be announced.

To nominate someone visit www.prideofessexawards.org.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

Buddy can you spare the time?

ONE of the greatest rock'n'roll shows of all time will kick off its 25th anniversary tour at Harlow Playhouse tonight (Thursday).

Smash hit musical Buddy - The Buddy Holly Story has been seen by more than 22 million music fans since it opened in London's West End in 1989 and continues to have audiences aged eight to 80 rocking in the aisles across the globe.

The show tells the legendary story of the musical icon's meteoric rise to fame, from his inauspicious beginnings as a country & western singer in Texas to his final legendary performance at the Surf Ballroom in Clear Lake, Iowa - and the tragic plane crash that would claim his life at the age of just 22 later the same night.

In just 18 short months the Texas-born musician had revolutionised the face of contemporary music, introducing rock'n'roll to the masses and influencing everyone from The Beatles to Bruce Springsteen.

The talented cast of the multi-award winning West End show will present two dazzling hours of music and drama featuring more than 20 of Buddy's greatest hits, including timeless classics That'll Be The Day, Peggy Sue, Oh Boy and Rave On.

In its recreation of Buddy's final show, it will also feature musical tributes to Buddy's contemporaries - and fellow plane crash victims - Big Bopper (Chantilly Lace) and Ritchie Valens (La Bamba) to complete the stellar musical line-up.

>>> Buddy - The Buddy Holly Story opens at Harlow Playhouse tonight (Thursday), until Saturday, with performances starting at 7.30pm. There is also a matinee show at 2.30pm on the Saturday. Tickets are available from the box office on (01279) 431945 or visit www.playhouseharlow.com.

ART A dazzling exhibition of contemporary hand-weaving by Ayse Simsek and hand-lettering by Mark L'Argent continues at The Gallery. Inspired by the natural world, Ayse's work blends traditional hand-weaving techniques with natural surfaces, while Mark's work aims to bring hand-lettering into the 21st century by incorporating elements of letterpress, typography, printing, collage and design. Textures runs until September 29 and admission is free.

TALK Writer and television presenter Monty Don has been described as the nation's favourite and most respected gardener. Monty's TV credits include Gardeners' World, Real Gardens, Lost Gardens, Fork to Fork, Growing Out of Trouble, Around The World In 80 Gardens, My Dream Farm and Mastercrafts. Last year he presented the popular Italian Gardens on BBC2 which was followed earlier this year by French Gardens. In his one-man show - which arrives in Harlow on Sunday, September 15 - he speaks about his life and travels visiting gardens all over the world, what really happens behind the scenes when filming, about how he made his own organic garden from a bare field and how understanding and working with nature enriches and empowers us all. Summer picnic with sounds of Dixieland jazz JAZZ fans are in for a treat when Barry Tyler's Original Dixieland Jazz Band will be performing at a summer picnic to helping to raise money for the Hastingwood-based charity Accuro.

The charity will be holding the event at Bridge End Gardens in Bridge End, Saffron Walden, from 2-6pm on Saturday.

Accuro's events co-ordinator Ruth Davies said: "We are hoping families, friends and jazz lovers will come along to not only enjoy the gardens and Barry Tyler's Jazz Band but also to help raise funds for Accuro's under-19s scheme."

"We will have a bar with real ale, wines and fizz. Refreshments will also be available with plenty of homemade cakes. There will be tables and chairs arranged in the kitchen gardens or just bring along blankets with your picnic!"

Accuro operates throughout Harlow, Epping and Uttlesford supporting people of all ages with a disability and providing short breaks for their families and carers.

Tickets for the summer picnic cost £6 for adults and £2 for under 16s (no charge for children under the age of three). They are available from the Tourist Information Centre in Saffron Walden on (01799) 524002 or from Ruth Davies on (01279) 433667 / 07799 411623, or by emailing ruth@accuro.org.uk

Releasing the tensions that lie behind the mask of civility

UNRULY children are at the heart of Harlow Theatre Company's latest production - a dark comedy with tantrums, tears and a few strong words providing a comically explosive insight into involved modern parenting.

In The God of Carnage, written by Yasmina Reza, two sets of parents meet to resolve a fight between their 11-year-old sons.

But as the discussion becomes heated and political correctness is thrown out of the window, the adults unmask their hysterical, childish selves.

Director Sharon Wilson said: "It's a cast of four and it's very much a character piece."

"The interaction between the characters is incredibly important. It is quite an intimate show, it is a small cast and the setting of the play - it's in one of the couple's living rooms adds to that intimacy.

"I think a lot of audience members will understand the need to be polite and civil in certain situations and this shows what happens when that mask of civility slips away and the facade and act of acting a 'proper' way gets stripped back. I think everyone can relate to that."

"It's a very active piece and it's a great show."

>>> The God of Carnage opens at the Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow from next Thursday (September 5) to Saturday, with performances starting at 8pm. Tickets are available from www.ticketsource.co.uk/harlowtheatrecompany or by calling 0844 8700 887. If the show is not sold out, tickets will also be available on the door.

Autumn is just round the corner

IT'S time to ease yourself out of the deckchair and put on your gardening gloves because autumn is almost upon us, and with it, a plethora of tasks to wake you from your summer slumber.

There's a host of jobs to do to get ahead this autumn, so make the most of the last warm days by perking up your plants, then enjoy the season change as the leaves turn from green to brilliant shades of warm yellow, burnt orange and burgundy.

Here's just a few of the tasks you could be doing to get a head start:

■ Patio Plants

When your summer bedding is past its best and beyond reviving, chuck it out and treat yourself to a fresh batch of winter-flowering pansies, evergreens and shrubs including autumn heather, Skimmia japonica 'Rubella' and variegated ivy to drape over the sides. Plant bulbs such as dwarf narcissi underneath. Spring-flowering bulbs in pots combine well with winter bedding plants such as pansies, evergreens, grasses and heathers. Group taller bulbs in the centre of the pot and use seasonal bedding nearer the sides.

■ Boost your lawn

Autumn is a great time to sow a new lawn, when the ground is still warm and there is likely to be some rain. You should have prepared the soil the previous season, making sure it has been well firmed and settled before levelling. Mark out your area and sow the seed evenly, scattering it in both directions before raking it into the soil surface. If it doesn't rain, water the seed well and keep the soil moist until the grass starts to appear. Net the area or put up a scarecrow to keep birds away.

GARDENING TIPS by Hannah Stephenson

If you have bare patches, mow the lawn, rake the surface to remove debris then spread seed over the sparse areas, sweeping it into the surface, before covering it with a fine layer of compost and watering it in.

■ Order bulbs

You should be ordering your spring bulbs now, some of which can be planted as early as August. Among the first spring bulbs for planting are narcissi, both in the border and in containers. Others for planting in early autumn include muscari, crocus, iris and hyacinth.

■ Sow seeds

You don't have to just sow seeds in spring, because a range of flowers and veg can be sown in autumn to give a longer harvesting time or simply to have a better start after overwintering. Salads can be sown through to mid-September for overwintering, some lettuces will reach a size which is perfect for picking before the cold slows down growth. Use cloches to cover those to be left in the ground a bit longer. Baby spinach leaves and corn salad are worth sowing if you can cover them later, as are several types of overwintering lettuce. Sow overwintering onions in vacant rows in the veg plot and transplant in October. You can also sow some hardy annuals in late summer – Chiltern Seeds (www.chilternseeds.co.uk, (01491) 824675) is now offering a number of new varieties including Centaurea americana 'Aloha Blanca', pictured, which is robust and tall growing, bearing beautiful, fluffy, ivory-white flowers six inches across.

■ De-clutter shed

Now's the time to clear out those cracked and broken pots, rusty tools and snapped bamboo canes. Disinfect and neatly pile seed trays which won't be used until next year and give your hand tools a good clean, wiping blades over with an oily rag before prolonged storage.

ONE DIRECTION: THIS IS US 2D & 3D
certificate PG, 1h32m

DIRECTED by Morgan Spurlock of Super-size Me fame, this is the story of five young men - Niall Horan, Zayn Malik, Liam Payne, Harry Styles and Louis Tomlinson - and their meteoric rise to fame.

Except, sadly, this is not their full story. There's footage of the boys performing on stage, winding down post-show on the tour bus and relaxing in their hotel rooms.

We also occasionally see the boys exploring the cities that they fleetingly visit when they are able. During one trip they are spotted by a group of fans and have to be locked in a shop, protected from the mass of hysterical girls.

Indeed, the fans feature heavily in Spurlock's film as they have done in the boys' careers. Never has the phrase 'we wouldn't be here without you' rung so true.

One Direction fans can be obsessive, although they prefer the word dedicated. Statistics shows that four million people in the UK call themselves Directioners - these are the uber-fans who endlessly tweet about the boys and spend their spare pennies following the band around.

During the film some of them are asked what it is they love about the boys. The answer? One Direction make them feel happy and they love that they're just normal guys.

And this is a key message of the film, repeated time and time again by the boys and those who know them - One Direction are a regular bunch of lads.

What the film is missing though, is any kind of glimpse into their lives outside the band. No girlfriends are seen or rumours addressed. There's no sex or drugs - or rock n' roll for that matter - and we get the feeling that we're being sold a rose-tinted view of the boys' lives which is hardly surprising given that Simon Cowell is a producer on the film.

Having said that, there are revealing interviews with the boys' families. Teary-eyed mothers tell how their sons went to The X Factor auditions and never returned - they're a strange mix of incredibly proud and very sad.

All in all this is a hard film to rate. It's 92 minutes of One Direction so surely fans of the band will love it. But what about non-Directioners? Spurlock has said that he challenges anyone to go to the film and not like the boys afterwards. It's a fair point.

Having said that, with One Direction tipped to be the first billion dollar boy band and the film estimated to break UK box office records, perhaps all attempts at criticism are pointless anyway.

certificate 15, 2h09m

BASED on an outlandish true crime, comedy caper Pain & Gain is an unlikely tale of three steroid-pumped Miami gym bunnies who live the American dream by kidnapping a wealthy businessman and torturing him for his fortune.

Wheeler dealer Danny Lugo (Mark Wahlberg) secures a position as manager of the Sun Gym where he grows envious of the fabulous lifestyles of some of his unfit clients - in particular Victor Kershaw (Tony Shalhoub). He devises a hare-brained scheme to abduct Kershaw, aided by fellow adrenaline junkies Adrian Doorbal (Anthony Mackie) and ex-con Paul Doyle (Dwayne Johnson).

But the trio are woefully inept and it takes them more than one attempt to capture their target... only to quickly discover he won't sign over his assets without a fight.

Scenes of torture escalate into attempted murder but their target proves remarkably resilient and eventually escapes. When the police fail to believe his crazy story, Kershaw turns to retired private detective Ed Du Bois (Ed Harris) to bring Danny and his buddies to justice.

ABOUT TIME
certificate 12A, 2h03m

PURPORTEDLY Richard Curtis's final film in the director's chair, About Time is a bittersweet romantic comedy about saying goodbye to the people you love.

Shortly after he turns 21-years-old, Tim (Domhnall Gleeson) learns from his father (Bill Nighy) that he harks from a long and distinguished line of time travellers who can go back along their own timeline to correct past mistakes and relive fond memories.

Tim is stunned by the revelation and begins to master this new skill, which comes in very handy when he crosses paths with Mary (Rachel McAdams) and bungles their first meeting. With the benefit of time travel, Tim corrects wrinkles in the relationship and romance blossoms with Mary.

However, every correction risks ripples through time and Tim gradually learns that there are some imperfections which must never be smoothed.

certificate 18, 1h35m

THE Davisons have decided to celebrate their 35th wedding anniversary by driving to a remote mansion, where they will be reunited with their four grown-up children.

Their son Crispian (AJ Bowen) and his plucky Australian girlfriend Erin (Sharni Vinson) arrive first, followed by his brother Drake (Joe Swanberg) and snobbish partner Kelly (Margaret Laney), sister Aimee (Amy Seimetz) and her filmmaker beau Tariq (Ti West) and, finally, Felix (Nicholas Tucci) with his moody girlfriend Zee (Wendy Glenn).

Rivalry between Crispian and Drake catalyses a full-blown argument over the dinner table. The heated altercation is cut short when one of the revellers is killed with a crossbow bolt to the noggin.

The remaining members of the feuding clan discover that three maniacs wearing animal masks and armed with an axe and machete have infiltrated the house. As the body count rises, the distraught revellers search for a means of escape from the bloodbath.

You have an excellent opportunity this week Aries, for a fresh start associated with your job, lifestyle or wellness issues. This is a perfect time to begin a diet or exercise routine, a new project or approach. The chances are that you'll be more disciplined if you go for it now. Fun times are also on the agenda, so do remember to enjoy yourself as well. Call for more news and advice...

Taurus April 21 - 21 May
Is romance in the air for you this week Taurus? A lovely line-up in your fun zone suggests that something may be in the offing. To top it all, there's a New Moon here which is perfect for a first date or that initial conversation. On the other hand, you can use this positive energy to revitalize your relationship with your long-term partner. Call me now for your love scope in full...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
You may notice tensions easing around you Gemini, helping you feel more relaxed and giving you more options to play with. Financially, things continue to look positive, especially as a Sun Jupiter link might encourage spending on the domestic front. There's a New Moon too, which is perfect for a home makeover or the chance to de-clutter. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Good communication can encourage fortunate trends, especially if you have ideas to share or advice to give. Your efforts may be greatly appreciated by those who benefit from them. The New Moon may coincide with a desire to learn something new or even to teach. What you say or commit to could have consequences. Cancer, so think before you act! Call now for more news...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
With Mars rip-roaring through your sign Leo, you may be keen to take a bolder approach to life. However, as Mars draws closer to Saturn, ideas may need to be evaluated, especially in the light of family concerns - though a compromise could work. You may find this is a good week to organize your finances, start a budget or think about savings options. Call for more advice...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
Enjoy this positive and upbeat week Virgo, especially as the New Moon in your sign may be one of the best of the year for you. You get a chance for change on a number of levels. Whatever your concerns, this is an opportunity to do something about them, while making use of this positive Moon-phase. A social event may be delightful, too. Agent Centurion Property, 4-6 Market Street, Old Harlow. Telephone (01279) 400444

LONGWOOD is a spacious family home sitting on a plot of just under 0.4 of an acre on the edge of Harlow and backing on to open fields.

The accommodation is very flexible with three reception rooms and three double bedrooms in the main house, a further fourth bedroom and separate playroom downstairs, a fifth bedroom/annexe above the garage and a heated swimming pool and pool house.

Three of the bedrooms have their own en-suite shower rooms.

Solid oak double doors open up into the entrance hall where there are doors off to the reception rooms. The lounge has an original red brick feature wall with beams and an open fireplace with log burner.

A second lounge also has a feature fireplace with gas fire and stairs to the first floor. There are glazed French doors to the rear garden, solid double oak doors to the dining room and single doors to the pool house and fourth bedroom.

The dining room also has glazed French doors to the rear garden and solid double oak doors to the lobby, where there is a door to a shower room and double doors to the kitchen.

Also on the ground floor is a rear lobby, a playroom and the annexe/garage with bedroom five above.

On the first floor are three bedrooms, an en-suite and the family bathroom.

To the front of the property there is a driveway with parking space for up to 10 cars.

The gardens to the front and rear have been landscaped with patio areas and feature walls. The south-facing rear garden is extremely private with a large expanse of lawn, a full width patio area and pergola. Leading from the patio there is also another room/office.

Centurion can provide further details on (01279) 400444.

When the new Governor of the Bank of England, Mark Carney, announced that interest rates were likely to remain at historic lows for a considerable time, many savers started to think seriously about where to invest their money and the buy-to-let market was in the news again.

Buy-to-let mortgage lending across the UK has been on the up in the last quarter, topping £5bn as more and more landlords and investors look to get a piece of the market that is still being driven by demand from tenants.

While the decision to invest in the private rented sector is often an easy one, making the choice about exactly where to buy can be tricky. Some look towards the suburbs, others opt for student strongholds and those who can afford it go for the cities themselves.

The last of these three options could be the best bet for investors after it was revealed that the daily commute is one of the most stressful parts of the day for many Brits. In recent years, many have looked towards areas surrounding the city to save on accommodation.

If you're thinking of entering the buy-to-let market, it may be a good idea to look towards homes that are within the bigger cities.

For those looking for a larger income, London and cities in the south will provide the biggest rental charges on a monthly basis, although these come with a larger initial outlay.

On the flipside, properties further north can bring in less month-to-month, but will be much cheaper to buy in the first place and often represent a far safer investment.

Chain-free for £499,950

SITUATED in St. John's Avenue - a particularly attractive part of Old Harlow - this detached house has plenty of space for a family.

There are five bedrooms and three en-suite shower rooms as well as a generous family bathroom. On the ground floor are three reception rooms and a delightful kitchen/breakfast room.

The large rear garden features a lawn and two patio areas. There is also a garage and driveway parking.

Genesis Property Services has this property on its books chain-free. Call (01279) 422422 for details.

Semi-rural location for £419,995

THIS attractive, extended property is at Trimms Green, a popular semi-rural location near Sawbridgeworth with stunning views to the front and rear.

There are two reception rooms, a kitchen/breakfast room, utility area, a ground floor cloakroom, study and three bedrooms with an en-suite to the master as well as a luxury family bathroom.

The rear garden includes an elevated and secluded patio with LED lighting and a water feature. There is also a detached garage and driveway parking at the front.

Newhall home for £229,995

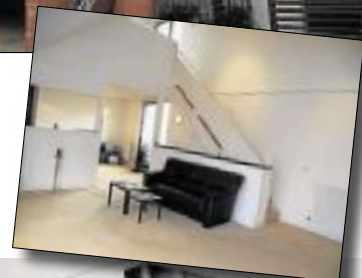

THIS fabulous property at Holland Way in the popular Newhall area of Harlow has spacious living accommodation laid out over three floors.

On the first floor are two double bedrooms - one with an en-suite - and a family bathroom. On the second floor there is an open plan kitchen/diner and lounge with vaulted ceilings.

A second staircase leads to the study area where there is large storage space.

The property comes with a carport with two parking spaces.

Call Howick and Brooker on (01279) 418888 to arrange a viewing.

Terraced home for £219,995

THIS end-of-terrace home in Ladyshot, Harlow, is particularly spacious with a good size rear garden, garage and driveway.

There are four bedrooms and a ground floor cloakroom while the fitted kitchen has integrated appliances.

The garden is mainly laid to lawn with plant and shrub borders. There is a shed and patio area and the garage has power and light connected.

The Power of Pre-Marketing

There is a strong argument for creating maximum exposure for a property during its time on the market, and much of our effort and resources are spent achieving the right exposure in the right places.

However, one of the most powerful ways of securing a fast sale at a high price can actually result from minimal exposure or rather exposure only to a select few!

It works by taking advantage of the fact that people enjoy being offered something on an exclusive basis, especially when it is a property that is just about to come onto the market. So we often offer our new instructions off-market to our pre-registered hottest buyers first, resulting in a number of recent sales that were never even advertised! Additionally, promoting to potential buyers that we also have properties that don't appear on our website or any portals creates a curiosity and a feeling that the buyer could be missing out on something good. This encourages them to register with us so they can then gain access to a potentially popular property with little or no competition.

The prices achieved using this method tend to be good as well, as buyers of such a property know that it is unlikely that the seller would consider anything other than the asking price during these early days of marketing.

We find that many sellers like the idea of an initial period of quiet marketing, especially in instances of a marriage break up, a death in the family, a prominent house in a small town, financial difficulties or any other reason where people don't yet want it to be publicly known that they are selling. The concept also reduces the risk of overexposure or of the property going stale on the market.

Of course, it does rely on a strong register of qualified buyers, but that's never been a problem for us at Geoffrey Matthew Estates!

VOLKSWAGEN HELPS CAR BUYERS TO SAVE THOUSANDS

A Volkswagen retailer in Harlow is helping keep hard-pressed drivers on the road with an insurance offer which could save them thousands of pounds.

Harlow Volkswagen are offering a year's free insurance for drivers registering a new VW up!, Polo, Beetle or Beetle Cabriolet before the end of September.

The offer – open to anyone over the age of 21 and under 80 – means that a driver under 25 could save around £2,800 in one fell swoop, while older women drivers could be more than £600 better off.

Alan Finnie, Brand Manager at Harlow Volkswagen, said: "This is an offer not to be missed. Purchasing a brand new car can seem daunting, particularly with insurance, and with motorists spending more and more on their insurance premiums, we are keen to help make their financial planning that little bit easier." Jay Redsell, Sales Manager said latest figures showed the average annual insurance premium for under 25-year-olds was a staggering £2,800, whilst other groups also stood to save substantial amounts of cash. "A 2012 study found that the average insurance for women aged between 40 and 49 had increased by a huge 45 per cent to £618 since January 2010. That is money they will save for a year with our offer."

The free insurance offer is available on all qualifying new Volkswagen up!, Polo, Beetle and Beetle Cabriolets registered by 30 September 2013 and lasts for one year. To qualify for the offer, drivers must be aged between 21 and 80 and will have held a full UK driving licence for at least 12 months. The Volkswagen up!, which has scooped a multitude of awards, including What Car? Car of the Year and Best City Car, is available from only £9,335. The Polo starts from £10,650, the Beetle from £15,515 and the Beetle Cabriolet from £18,405. Jay added: "When customers purchase with the help of our finance Solutions, it opens up another great offer to them. They will get up to three years servicing for just £199."

To find out more about this fantastic offer contact Harlow Volkswagen on 01279 400 400

CMC SEAT Harlow's fortunes boosted by carmaker's golden year

- Harlow dealership benefiting from SEAT's recent awards success
- New Leon five and three door models proving extremely popular
- Latest Ibiza and Mii Toca deals mean big savings

Customers who take the time to check out the cars gracing the showroom of CMC SEAT Harlow will find themselves in special company...

For taking pride of place in the dealership's showroom in Edinburgh Way is the dynamic carmaker's new five-door Leon which has captured the imagination of thousands of motorists and has recently been crowned Car of the Year at the annual Auto Express New Car Awards.

The Leon also motored off with the Best Compact Family Car award at the glittering ceremony in London last month (July) as judges recognised the hatchback has outstanding style, quality and equipment levels and low running costs.

There were other honours for the Barcelona-based brand at the showpiece event with the Alhambra scooping best MPV (multi purpose vehicle) award for the third year in a row.

These outstanding achievements have been welcomed by CMC SEAT Harlow, which is part of Cheshunt Motor Company (CMC), and for over 25 years as a main dealer has provided a professional high quality service to over 10,000 customers in North London, South Hertfordshire and Harlow.

The dealership has also noted the buzz of excitement in recent weeks surrounding the launch of the Leon SC which makes history as the first ever three-door Leon. This latest model has impressed the country's leading motoring journalists as a car that subtly combines a coupé-like presence with family hatchback practicality.

The much heralded arrival of the new Leon and its success in the Auto Express New Car Awards comes at a time when SEAT is celebrating an astonishing first half of 2013, with half-year UK sales figures putting the company well on course to smash its yearly sales record.

The 22,752 SEAT cars registered between January and June 2013, according to SMMT figures, are a half-year company record. The number eclipses SEAT's previous half-year record, set in 2012, by 18.6%.

The sales spike can also be attributed to the welcome introduction of the young-spirited carmaker's new Mii and Toledo models – and marked changes to the Ibiza, including a new flagship Ibiza Cupra.

Paul Holmes, Managing Director of CMC SEAT Harlow, enthused: "Never has there been a better time to embrace the SEAT brand. The Leon five-door has picked up the coveted Auto Express Car of the Year award, while the stunning new SC is one of the most talked about cars of the moment. SEAT has a model range that is of the very highest quality and these cars can be seen in all their glory in the CMC SEAT Harlow showroom."

The new five-door Leon is priced from just £15,670 and offers truly class-leading technology and remains the world's only family hatchback to offer full-LED headlights. Prices for the Leon SC – Sports Coupé – begin at £15,370, rising to £22,075 for an FR-specification car with a powerful 184 PS 2.0 TDI engine.

For CMC SEAT Harlow the excitement surrounding the Leon is only part of the story – for the dealership has a range of other mouth-watering deals on offer at the moment.

For instance the three-door Mii Toca can be driven away for £8,995 – a saving of £1,000 on the recommended on the road price – and included in the package is one year's free insurance, SEAT Portable System (SPS) which includes satellite navigation and live data services, Bluetooth® phone connection, MicroSD card slot, advanced trip computer functionality, 14 inch 'Silva' alloy wheels and the iconic Toca badge.

And the Ibiza Toca, priced at £9,995, and with a huge saving of £2,710 on its recommended price, is another fantastic car that's turning heads. Again it comes with the SEAT Portable System and cherished Toca badge in addition to 16 inch alloy wheels.

CROSSING OVER

The XV is a Subaru like none before. Now with more affordable pricing, does it still offer the company's unique appeal?

Ten Second Review

The Subaru XV is a smart-looking crossover vehicle that offers the best all-wheel drive system in its class and some charismatic engines. Recent changes to pricing now make it one of the more affordable choices in its sector and it remains one of the most capable and secure options when the weather turns really nasty.

Background

Subaru is a company in transition. A few years ago, it found itself overly focused around one model, the Impreza, and made a decision to broaden the appeal of its wares. Unfortunately, it chased mass market sales with the Impreza, a tactic that didn't work. A tough financial climate and a failure to invest in overseas manufacturing facilities put the company at a competitive disadvantage. Since then, it has retrenched and rebuilt its range and now things are looking up. The Impreza's image as a performance car is being rehabilitated, much-improved Forester, Legacy and Outback models have been launched and then there's the charismatic BRZ coupe that has, with its Toyota GT86 sister vehicle, generated more column inches than the latest Porsche 911. Slipping in almost unnoticed to the line-up has been a vehicle likely to be more crucial to the company's bottom line - the Subaru XV. The two letters are a shorthand for crossover and this model targets vehicles like the Nissan Qashqai and the Hyundai ix35, while offering a sharper driving experience than either. It'll certainly fare much better in the UK now that pricing has been sharpened.

Summary

The crossover genre is one that Subaru ought to excel at. All the ingredients are already in place. The company can draw upon a long tradition of rugged, multi purpose all-wheel drive cars. The issue though in this segment is all about packaging and presenting this clever engineering in a way that's accessible and appealing to mainstream customers. With the XV, most of this is sorted. It looks good, it's a reasonable size, it drives well and it will undoubtedly be very reliable.

Only the value proposition was originally in question, but now that the UK importers have sorted this out and sharpened up pricing, the market needs to start taking this Subaru seriously. Even if it does, the XV probably won't trouble the best sellers list anytime soon. Still, it remains an interesting and entertaining entrant. If you're a keen driver and want a car with all-weather ability that will still discharge the family duties, it's well worth a place on your shortlist.

A Hotbed of Hybrids

The latest editions to the Toyota Hybrid line-up are the British-built Auris Hybrid and Auris Hybrid Touring Sports, a compact family hatch and wagon estate that have their rivals beaten with their combination of tax-busting low emissions and impressive official fuel consumption figures. And there's no compromise on the room inside, as Toyota's clever packaging of the hybrid system has avoided any intrusion in the boot space.

That intelligent packaging can also be appreciated in Yaris Hybrid, a super-efficient supermini in which Toyota has successfully downsized its Hybrid Synergy Drive system. All the more attractive are combined cycle fuel consumption of up to 81mpg and CO2 emissions from just 79g/km.

Prius is the original Toyota hybrid car and the pathfinder for its technological leadership. Since the original model arrived in the UK in 2000 it has been steadily improved so that today's third generation model is more efficient than ever.

More than that, Prius has grown from a single hatchback option to a family of three models, extending its appeal to an even wider customer base. Toyota has used light and compact lithium-ion battery technology to develop Prius into the Prius+ compact MPV. With the smaller battery pack slotted neatly between the front seats, it is the first full hybrid on the market to offer seven seats on board. Again, emissions start below the 100g/km road tax benchmark, with average fuel consumption from 68.8mpg (official combined cycle).

For the latest development in Toyota's petrol-electric hybrid technology, Prius Plug-in provides even greater all-electric driving range, at higher speeds. On a full charge it can cover around 14 miles, which is enough to cover most typical daily commutes. Unlike all-electric vehicles, there is no risk of coming to halt once battery charge is exhausted; instead the hybrid system's 1.8-litre engine automatically comes into play, removing any "range anxiety" about whether a journey can be completed.

Recharging the lithium-ion battery is simple, safe and quick and can be accomplished using a standard domestic or workplace supply, or a roadside charging point. Toyota customers choosing Prius Plug-in can also take advantage of a free wallbox charging point offer from British Gas, which provides a survey and same-day installation of a dedicated home charging socket, complete with a data capture function. This offer has been made possible by the Government's Ultra-Low Carbon Vehicle grant funding; an incentive for people to buy electric vehicles that also contributes £5,000 towards the new car list price.

Kerry Baker, the Sales Manager at Hills Toyota of Bishops Stortford, and the rest of the team would be delighted to offer you a test drive in any one of the new Hybrid vehicles.

for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF).

Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Website: www.stewardsacademy.org

Established 1963 (Dedicated to 2013)

No. of pupils 1040

BUSINESS MANAGER

Full time - required as soon as possible. LGS Band 6, range £40,000 - £50,000 according to experience and qualifications

We acquired academy status almost 2 years ago. We are over-subscribed and fully staffed, and all curriculum areas have a very high standard of resources and facilities. Supported by strong Finance and Personnel teams, there are plenty of opportunities for the Business Manager to be involved in strategic planning and contribute to the academy's development. You will need plenty of drive and energy as this is a challenging but rewarding role.

Prior experience in an education setting is essential. Accountancy qualifications will be a distinct advantage, eg AAT, CCAB. You will be responsible for all Finance, Personnel and Administration functions, strategic planning, and oversight of school and site facilities. Essential requirements: Proven strong financial background. Good computer skills including Word, Excel and financial budgetary control systems. Experience of producing and monitoring budgets and end of year accounts, team leadership and managing change are also required.

You must be unflappable, able to deal with emergency situations, flexible and have a "can do" attitude to work coupled with a good sense of humour, and a desire to develop your own career.

CVs are not acceptable - please only use the Academy's Application Form.

Application material is available from www.stewardsacademy.org, or telephone as above.

CLOSING DATE: FRIDAY 20th September 2013.
FORMS WILL BE ASSESSED AS THEY ARRIVE. SO PLEASE SUBMIT YOUR APPLICATION AS SOON AS POSSIBLE. PLEASE ENSURE CORRECT POSTAGE

Visits are most welcome by arrangement with The Personnel Officer.

Stewards Academy is committed to safeguarding and promoting the welfare of young people, and is a No Smoking site.

Your CV

When you send your CV off to a potential employer, remember that you won't be the only one. Hundreds of other people could be applying for the job as well.

So what are you going to do to make you stand out from the crowd? Why should an employer take a chance on you instead of someone else?

Your CV is your first real chance to sell yourself to a potential employer. Most employers will scan through a CV in about 30 seconds so you need to grab their attention from the start - and make them want to invite you for an interview.

There are five main areas to consider when writing your CV:

- Make sure your CV looks the part. Your CV should look clean and tidy - don't scrawl it out on a piece of A4 paper. If you haven't got access to a PC or printer, ask a friend or use your local library. Use a good quality paper and steer clear of fancy borders and front covers.
- Watch out for silly spelling and grammar mistakes. They make you look lazy and show employers that you don't really care. It's not difficult to do a spell check on your PC and if you're really stuck then don't just guess, reach for a dictionary. Get a friend to read through your CV for you - a second opinion is always useful.
- Make sure your CV is well organised. When you list your previous jobs, make sure the dates are correct and try not to leave any gaps. If you took time out to go travelling then say so - employers won't mark you down just because you've tried something new.
- Don't waffle. Remember that employers don't have time to read every word of your CV. Long paragraphs and sentences put people off, so try bullet-points to break up text. Make sure your CV is no longer than two pages long - employers don't want your life history, they just want to see that you've got what it takes to do the job.
- Don't list any failures. Employers have enough trouble finding someone who is right for the job - they don't need help finding reasons not to employ you. If you have to include a mistake from your past, make sure you show the employer that you learnt something from the experience.

Keep it simple

Personal details

Start off with your full name, address, home and mobile phone numbers and email address. If you are offered an interview, the employer will want to get hold of you so give him as many options as possible.

Summary/professional profile

This is the No1 area for selling yourself. Set out your main skills and personal qualities but keep it interesting and tight - one paragraph should do to cover everything.

Education and qualifications

List your qualifications and education history, with the most recent first. You don't need to list the grades for each exam you have passed unless they were exceptional results - simply listing the number and type of exams you've passed is fine. Also, list any relevant professional organisations you belong to and training courses you have been on.

Work experience

Start with your most recent position and work backwards, giving addresses along with start and finish dates. Set out your main responsibilities, duties and most importantly achievements, along with any skills you picked up or improvements you made while you were there. This is a really important section in your CV so make it count - but don't waffle.

If you have not had a full-time job before, detail any part-time jobs you may have held or any placement you have been on.

Other skills

Set out any computer skills you may have and the software you are most familiar with. Can you type, do shorthand or speak a foreign language fluently? If you have a driving licence, let the employer know. If it's clean, tell them.

Interests & hobbies

Briefly list what you get up to in your spare time. Put down any positions you hold in clubs or associations, along with any responsibilities and achievements.

References

Make sure you have at least two people (including one from your previous or current job) who will tell an employer what a thoroughly nice person you are and what a potential asset to the company you would be.

If you want to list them now make sure you include their name, job title, postal & e-mail address and contact phone numbers. Alternatively, just put "Available on request" so the employer knows to follow up references at a later date.

Add a covering letter

The main aim of a covering letter is to encourage an employer to give you a chance. You want them to read your CV, so sell it to them. You should always enclose a covering letter when applying for a job - most employers won't consider you unless you do.

A covering letter should let the employer know why you are interested in the job and why you think you can do it.

The hints and tips below should point you in the right direction:

- Keep it simple. A covering letter should be short and to the point - no more than six paragraphs.
- Mention the job. If you are replying to an advert, mention what the job is and where you saw it. The company may be advertising for other positions and it may not be clear which job you are applying for.
- Sell yourself. Explain why you are the perfect candidate for the job. Show off your strengths and experience. Refer to your CV - if it goes missing then at least an employer will know that you've sent it.
- Check it for mistakes. A silly spelling mistake in a covering letter is likely to cost you your chance of getting an interview. Also, make sure it is addressed to the right person in the right department.

A covering letter can be just as important as a CV in getting you an interview. It's your first point of contact with your potential employer - so make it count.

PUBLIC NOTICES

Public Notices

Essex County Council

(High Laver Road, Matching Green) (Temporary Prohibition of Traffic) Order 2013

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: To temporarily close that length of High Laver Road, Matching Green, from its junction with Harlow Road southwards for a distance of 250 metres.

The closure is scheduled to commence on 06 September 2013 for 1 day between the hours of 9.30am and 3.30pm, or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting.

The closure is required for the safety of the public and workforce to enable BT to work on overhead cabling.

The alternative route will be via Matching Road, Workers Road, Hobbs Cross Road, Churchgate Street, Sheering Road, Moor Hall Road, Matching Green Road, Harlow Road, Matching Tye Road and vice versa.

Access for emergency service vehicles and pedestrians will be maintained at all times during the closure.

The Order will come into effect on 06 September 2013 and may continue in force for 18 months or until the works have been completed, whichever is the earlier.

Dated: 29 August 2013

Liz Burr, Head of Network Management, County Hall, Chelmsford.

£300,000 4G complex gives Clapton some Upper class

THE completion of a £300,000 state-of-the-art artificial pitch has transformed Upper Clapton Rugby Club.

The official opening of the 4G surface was carried out by former England, Leicester and Lions full-back Tim Stimpson with Ian Swindale, past president of the Thornwood Common club, in front of 400 people.

He also presented a cheque from Sport England's Inspired Facilities, which helped fund the project.

Stimpson applauded the efforts of the rugby club and their tenacity in developing the all-weather pitch and looked forward to visiting the club again in the coming seasons to see the completion of a new clubhouse at the Upland Road club, who play in the Essex League.

He was encouraged to hear the good news regarding recruitment at all levels of the club and the work carried out in local schools and colleges.

Cash to pay for the project has come through grants and loans from a number of leading sports authorities including the RFU, Grange Farm Trust and Epping Forest District Council.

Three floodlit five-a-side football pitches or the entire area are now available to hire to local sports clubs and will be used by the club for training.

Bauer's victory in final meeting

ATHLETE Dave Bauer secured victory in the last meeting of this season's Eastern Veterans League.

The Harlow Athletic Club ace threw the discus a respectable 37.30 metres for first place.

Bauer (47), of Quarry Spring, was representing Chelmsford AC in the meeting at the Lee Valley Athletics Centre, North London.

In a busy August, Bauer travelled to Tullamore, southern Ireland to make his debut at the Irish Masters Championships.

He threw the hammer 36.87m for a new personal best by 38cms and came first in the men's 45 age group.

He then recorded 37.58m in the discus to win this event.

He threw the shot 10.53m for second on countback.

In an Irish Speciality event, the 56 pound weight which is thrown one-handed between the legs, Bauer registered 5.09m for fifth place.

Rain proves a pain for Harlow

HARLOW have to put the frustration of last weekend's wet weather behind them when they face Woodford Wells away in division one of the Shepherd Neame Essex League (SNEL) this Saturday.

The five scheduled matches in the division were wiped out by bad weather. This meant that the ninth placed Marigolds side remained second from bottom after they were denied the opportunity of playing basement side Fives & Heronians.

Harlow Town's game at Woodford Green in division three of the SNEL was also abandoned because of rain.

HARLOW Greyhound Stadium selections for tomorrow (Friday August 30):- 7.30 On The Strap; 7.49 Conors Shadow; 8.08 Indigo Kate; 8.27 Chaotic King; 8.46 Tanias Princess (NAP); 9.04 Buglys Boss; 9.22 Seastorm Charlie; 9.40 Mythical Emily (NB) 9.58 Drumragh Pudsey; 10.15 Soviet Rooney.

TENNIS TREAT: Alex Dodd meets Wimbledon hero and now BBC1 commentator Tim Henman

Alex serves up Wimbledon joy

HARLOW'S Alex Dodd experienced the opportunity of a lifetime as he took to the famous lawns of the All England Club as part of the HSBC Road to Wimbledon National 14 & Under Challenge Finals.

The 14-year-old Stewards Academy pupil also got the chance to meet Wimbledon favourite Tim Henman.

Alex, who qualified for Wimbledon after winning the Essex County finals, met with tough competition in Group C and, despite failing to win any of his matches, he got through to the second round of the boys' consolation draw.

Some 20,000 youngsters from all over Britain competed throughout the summer in pursuit of following in the footsteps of Andy Murray by playing at Wimbledon, with the top 128 boys and girls earning the chance to compete at the national finals.

Alex, who lives on Church Langley and is a member of Harlow Tennis Club, lost to Sebastian Harris in the second round at Wimbledon. He revealed arriving as a player at SW19 this year was certainly the personal highlight of his summer.

"It was really good to play at Wimbledon because I do not get the opportunity to play on grass very often and even when I do play on the surface it is not good quality," Alex said. "The tournament enabled me to play really good tennis players, I was able to play the tenth UK seed, and I had never played him before so it was a great experience."

Alex even got the chance to meet former British number one Tim Henman as he spent time with the players at the All England Club.

Henman said: "The excitement of coming through the gates is still the same for me."

"It has the best tennis tournament in the world and it is a huge motivating factor for all the kids."

"It is inspiring and that is where Wimbledon plays a huge part in generating interest in the sport."

The HSBC Road to Wimbledon National 14 & Under Challenge is the UK's largest national junior grass court tournament and forms part of HSBC's investment in the stars of the future.

Two in, two out as Rams target promotion in 2014

THE Rams are working hard as they target promotion from the RFU London division three north east next season.

Harlow Rugby Club have been boosted by the signing of Elliott White and the return of former favourite and second row player Robert Cochrane.

The first XV start their league campaign against Canvey Island on Saturday September 14.

Lee Harron's side will take on National League Two South neighbours Bishop's Stortford next Saturday in a four-club tournament also involving Saffron Walden and Upper Clapton.

On September 7 they will host Stevenage in a game which they hope will allow the coaching team to make the final adjustments before meeting Canvey the following week.

Club spokesman Dave Sharp said: "The coaching team report that numbers at training are steadily increasing and those that have been regularly attending are showing good improvement with skills, game management and conditioning."

Prop Dave Roze has moved away from the area, while Danny Wright has decided to hang his boots up. "This will be a big blow, but the arrival of Elliott and return of 'Rusty' Cochrane will be a bonus. We are hoping to look at a number of options during our warm-up fixtures," said Sharp.

All three men's teams finished last season on winning runs.

One of Harron's gripes last season was the lack of commitment to training.

But Sharp said: "At a recent pre-season players' meeting, players made the verbal commitment towards a greater effort for training and game availability."

CHANGING RAMS: Harlow hope to improve on last season's fifth place finish. Inset, influential player Rhys Powell, left, will be key. Above right, prop David Roze has quit after leaving the town effort for training and game availability.

"If they deliver this commitment then there is no reason why the club cannot have a successful season and extend their last season performance."

Meanwhile, a 10-a-side tournament was held in memory of club stalwart, player and coach Chris Ball.

His death at the age of only 25 in 2008 came as a massive shock to everybody at the Elizabeth Way club.

This year's event was won by a team called 'Those Guys', all former University of Hertfordshire students, and captained by former Harlow player James Lewis.

This meant they retained the Christopher Ball Shield.

Three Harlow teams took part: Bully's Bullies, captained by Ross Ashcroft, the Bulldozers, captained by former Malta international Martin Mallia, and a side of former Passmore students managed by Garry Watts.

Also taking part were Chingford RFC and Charlie Collins led his fellow former Loughborough University students, who finished as runners-up.

On the same day, Harlow Ladies played in a triangular tournament against both Tabard RFC and Maidenhead RUFC.

The creativity of Harlow and Maidenhead's disciplined approach dominated the event.

Maidenhead went on to win in a hard-fought final against Harlow.

Nearly £1,000 was raised for the RNLI Christopher Ball Forever by the Sea fund.

Club mourns death of stalwart

HARLOW Rugby Club stalwart Alan Webb died on Sunday at the age of 62.

Webb, pictured right, had been an exceptionally active volunteer at the Elizabeth Way club for more than 25 years, during which time he held a number of roles.

Matters surrounding finance and the club's grounds were some of his portfolios.

Even as late as last Friday he was sorting out a fault with the floodlights.

"A loyal clubman to the last, Alan will be truly missed and our heartfelt sympathies go to his son and daughter Tom and Beccy at this tragic time," said the club's press officer Dave Sharp.

The club website has launched a page for members to record their memories of Alan and on it the club president, Alan Price, wrote: "Alan was a true clubman. He had great ideas and held onto his views fiercely."

"Never afraid to be controversial he could grab hold of the big picture and had a vision of what a club should be doing to attract and hold onto its playing resource.

"Everything he did or suggested was always to further the interests of the club. Many of the big decisions made at the club over the past decades have been a result of Alan's vision."

"I remember fondly working with him and (former director of rugby) Graham Richards. Many of the ideas that were developed then are still in force within the club, today."

Webb died after suffering a heart attack.

At the time of going to press, funeral arrangements had not been finalised.

Top bowls and then a baby for English finalist

STEVE Mitchinson enjoyed success off the bowls rink as his girlfriend gave birth – just a week after he suffered heartbreak at the English National Championships.

The Harlow bowls player, pictured, was representing Essex, who reached the last 16 at Worthing before bowing out. But better news was to follow as his partner Angela Hoffman had a baby girl Cara.

At Worthing, Mitchinson, of Challinors, skipped the Essex side. In the first round Essex beat a triple from Devon in a tight game, which came down to the last wood.

Mitchinson, a member of Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club, held his nerve to draw in for the shot to win the game by two. After that, Essex defeated a triple from Warwickshire, sneaking through with a one-shot win.

In the last 16, the Essex triple faced a Worcestershire team. But Mitchinson's men didn't play to the best of their ability and lost by eight shots.

Mitchinson also represented Essex in another national competition, the Balcombe Trophy. He again skipped one of the rinks and helped the county reach the final where they were beaten by Hampshire.

Finally, the Harlow bowls player turned out for Essex in the Middleton Cup semi-final, a 24-man team event. Here he was joined by fellow Tye Green Indoor Bowls Club member Richard Haley.

In a thrilling finish against Berkshire it came down to Mitchinson's last bowl to draw for a tie and an extra end, but it fell short to leave Berkshire victorious.

Hawks boss demands FA Cup win

HAWKS boss Danny Chapman is looking for a reaction when his team hosts Essex Senior League club Tower Hamlets in the preliminary round of the FA Cup this Saturday.

Chapman was left seething and looking at changes after his Harlow Town team lost 4-3 at home to close rivals Waltham Abbey on Bank Holiday Monday, after the hosts had led 3-0 at one stage.

Chapman said: "I am looking for a reaction and we have not done well in the last two years in the competition. "We are not going to win it but a cup run would bring money in and it would give something for the fans."

Meanwhile Chapman has signed another keeper, Michael Dumoulin, who has joined Harlow for a third time. With number one Danny Knowles out with a ruptured groin Chapman now has James May, Jason Hardy and Dumoulin as keepers.

Chapman said: "James May will be unavailable for two weeks at the end of next month and I need cover. It's a very important position."

On Monday, Junior Dadson put Harlow ahead in the 17th minute after he latched onto a sloppy back pass by Abbey defender Matt Bedford.

Danny Brown nodded home to put the hosts 2-0 up on 27 minutes. Alex Read then scored Harlow's third goal with a chip on 32 minutes.

Chapman said: "Even when we were 3-0 up, we were not playing particularly well."

Waltham Abbey struck back as they scored three goals in a seven-minute spell shortly before the break.

Darelle Russell headed home on 36 minutes.

Joe Pearman then scored in the 39th minute for Abbey.

Ayrton Coley then made it 3-3 when he broke 70 yards to fire home on 43 minutes.

Chris Sargent scored what proved to be the winner with a header for the visitors in the 62nd minute.

Chapman blasted: "It started in the second half at Ware where they could have scored three times but for James May."

"My players are not lacking in experience and they should be able to deal with it if things are not going right."

He added: "We gave away three against Barkingside and five against Thurrock and changes will be made in the next two weeks."

HARLOW TN: May, Akande, Parry, Gliddon, Wheeler (Thomas 35), Curley, Dadson (McKenzie 70), Brown, Read, Antoine, Martin. Sub not used: Hart, Barnard, Williams. Att 196.

Rampant Harlow thrash neighbours

HAWKS assistant boss Paul West-Hook paid tribute to returning player-coach Danny Brown and four-goal hero Alex Read after the 5-0 thrashing of Ware in Ryman division one north, writes DAVID RIMMER.

"Danny Brown coming back made a big difference and Donny Barnard also got a few minutes under his belt," said West-Hook after Saturday's game.

"The most important thing was that we got three points and that we bounced back after the Thurrock game."

"We set our stall out early by scoring in the third minute. It is nice when you work on things and they come off in a game."

He added: "Alex [Read] did very well. He is very composed in a one-on-one. We took our chances and they did not."

The visitors went ahead after a deep free-kick from the left by Robbie Martin towards the far post was headed across goal by Leon Antoine and an unmarked Read tapped home at the far post on Saturday.

The visitors' lead was doubled in the 26th minute. A Junior Dadson cross came in low and Read tucked in at the near post.

Harlow went 3-0 up on 36 minutes. Dadson rifled in off the far post from 22 yards out.

Harlow stretched their lead on 48 minutes. Read broke and tapped past the advancing Jack Kelly and into the net.

Read then broke eight minutes later to shoot home his fourth goal and completed the rout. HARLOW TN: May, Akande, Parry, Gliddon, Wheeler, Curley (Barnard 74), Dadson, Brown (Hart 85), Read (McKenzie 52), Antoine, Martin.
